

ONLINE DATING

A Guide to Successful Internet Dating

Brought to you by hornyadultencounters.com

A Guide to Success in the World of Internet Dating

Internet Dating. The two words that have revolutionised the way we meet and have more sex than ever before. Everyone is online now, checking out the latest hot girls and guys who are looking for a little extra sex in their lives.

Online dating is in and if you're not a part of it then you are missing out on something hot. Not like the old days. Oh, sure, going to the clubs and bars can help you get laid but how do you absolutely guarantee what you're getting or whether the hottie you've been chatting with all night is really going to sleep with tonight?

Wouldn't it be better if you knew that the hot girl you're about to meet already wants you? That's the beauty of the online dating world! It's so easy now that if you don't already have a profile online then you're certainly missing out on the best thing since online porn!

Do you want more sex in your life? Do you want some sex in your life? Follow our advice and you'll be banging all night long within a few days. It's simple and, best of all, it's all free! You like free stuff, right?

Online Dating Does Work

Being human, we are all different. We have different tastes, different styles and different cultures. Online dating makes sure we can find exactly what we are looking for. How easy life has become now that we can answer a few simple questions and then find a match that exactly fits our needs! Clever, isn't it?

Online Dating is Safe

You've heard all the rumours, suggestions and media spin that tries to make out internet dating is evil. They couldn't be any more wrong if they tried. Online dating is as safe as any other form of dating and is no more dangerous than the rest of the internet.

Of course, some people do abuse the system. Some have a motive the enables crime to be committed. You face that exact same threat all day, every day in your entire life. The internet is no more dangerous than anything else you may face!

You know that your bank won't ask you to check your details in an email and you that the rich guy from Nigeria doesn't have $25,000,000 to share with you so why get scared by online dating? After all, you can reveal as much or as little about yourself as you feel safe doing.

Do not worry about the alleged dangers of internet dating. This is a safe world and those who run the sites want to keep you so they're going to help to keep it safe!

Why is Internet Dating so Damn Successful?

It's fast, convenient and people can now get what they want. You can find the right person from anywhere. Now you're no longer confined to your own peer group or social scene. Hey, if you've already been out with every girl in the neighbourhood maybe it's time to expand your horizons a little more!

It's all so damn fast that most people who join an online dating site get what they want in a few days. Days! Not weeks, or so many expensive dates that you're no longer interested. We're serious here. Signing up, logging on and searching now means that the girls and guys are all there and available right now!

Hell, some guys are getting laid so often that they can't keep up.

Internet dating is so efficient now and so easy. A few mails, an online chat and before you know it you're fucking the person that night! How easy is that? Pretty simple!

As the internet has grown so has online dating. Whether you want sex or marriage there is someone online right now who is your ideal match. We're not going to stop you going out to socialise and maybe meet someone but if you've been there and done that and still jerking off at home then get online now!

This is the first question you ask yourself when joining an online dating community. You know what you like and you should be going after that! The guys who are “up for anything” rarely get it. You need to be a little more specific!

It doesn't matter if you're into oral, anal, watersports or any other fetish there is someone online right now who wants the same thing!

All our tastes and interests differ. Certain body sizes, breast sizes and cock sizes have a market in the internet dating world. Remember, you are hot and someone online wants you!

What is your current social situation? You've got friends, a good life but you're just lacking a good partner? You may be looking for a quick fling or something longer. A relationship or a fuck buddy?

What Are You Looking For?

Know what you want now. No one likes indecision.

Knowing what you want will help you find exactly that!

You want a mate. Someone to be with. Online dating isn't all about sex. It's a fun part but if you want to find someone for life then look no further than the online world of dating! It's all there and it's all waiting for you!

The casual relationship is one thing women want more if these days. It is a lot of fun, knowing you can spend time together, engage in some fun sex and move on afterwards. Women are now enjoying having flings, fuck buddies and friends-with-benefits these days. They need guys though.

Being clear about your desires and intentions from the start will help you find what you want. Being honest about what you want will help you more than being too general or vague and lies will ensure you spend the night alone.

Getting Success with Online Dating

Since you're reading this helpful manual then you're already part way to success online. We're not going to promise you 100% success either. That would be a lie and we hate liars. This is life and no one is perfect, just ask Bill Belichick. What we can offer you is a chance to have a better than average success rate. Time to be a part of the upper percentile for change!

Alexander Pope once suggested that only fools rush in where angels fear to tread. Online dating means being selective and careful at first. You're going to make a few mistakes, you're going to fall off the bike now and again but after a while you'll know what you're doing and you'll be getting results.

All the world's a stage, And all the men and women merely players

Play your part online. Remember that if you want to be treated with respect then you have to treat other with respect. The guy who goes into a chat room and throws out quick lines about being available for a fuck doesn't get what he wants. Assuming that anyone you are chatting with is there to meet you then you'll be lonely tonight.

Be civil with others. Be yourself. Don't pretend to be someone you're not. You'll get found out soon enough. Be polite. The funny, polite, sociable guys get what they want way more than the wishy-washy “up for anything” guys who try and assume control from the start.

Dating is About More Than Looks

What do you find interesting in a person? Not the looks. What do you find in the psychology of a person? Do you want someone to have such traits as intellect or a certain type of humour? That hot blonde may turn you on but would you want to go out to dinner with her and hold a decent conversation? The moment you go on a date with someone and she says "I'll have what you're having" is the moment you leave her in the restaurant.

Beauty is only Skin Deep

Of course, if you want that one night stand then go for the hottest girls but remember that if you do want a long-term relationship or even a friendship then nothing will last if your partner doesn't attract you intellectually as well as physically.

Character is as important as any aspect in a partner. The same goes for you. You know what you enjoy doing. Remember that when it comes to telling potential partners about yourself. Looks should never get in the way of something that you want.

Are You Interesting?

Yes, you are. Your interests help define you. The subjects you enjoy talking about, the places you enjoy going. Now, do you want your partner to share those interests or perhaps you would like someone different to expand your own interests. This is one subject that arouses debate in modern dating. Opposites can be attracted to each other as can similarities.

The key is compatibility. Will you work together as a partnership? Will a relationship last, if that is what you want?

Interests are something to think about. We will repeat this later but one issue that should never be left before joining a dating site is planning. Think about these questions and formulate some answers before diving in. Some thought and planning will only enhance your dating fun.

Do I Not Like That

Once you know what you want and what sort of person you are looking for then you also have to give some thoughts to what you don't want. If someone has a fetishistic desire that you don't like then it ain't gonna work. Do not, under any circumstances, think that you can change yourself because someone turns you on from their physical looks. You can't.

Don't try and change either yourself or someone else to what you want or what they want. It won't work.

Making compromises can work but don't get carried away. There is so much choice that one person may not be right for you but there are thousands more that would be right for you. Again, don't pretend to be someone you're not.

Have Fun! Enjoy Yourself!

Hey, this online dating game is fun! Why do you think so many people now do it? In the online world we are all created equal. The hottest girl may get all the attention and the coolest guys get the best hotties. You are cool.

Have fun online. Relax and take things as you want to. Do some searching and check out the profiles that are there. Join in the chat rooms. Have you ever noticed how full chat rooms get but most people say nothing? They sit there like the guys at the edge of a dance floor, not dating to take part. That's not you! If you're in a chat room then chat! Hey, come on. We're all here for a purpose and joining in the social interaction of a chat room will only help you enhance and enjoy the online dating experience.

Sometimes your time online may not be fun, particularly in chat rooms. If you're not in a sociable mood or the other people around aren't being talkative. Don't worry about those times.

Online dating isn't perfect all the time. One thing you should never do is become disheartened by a bad day or a rejection. It happens. Move on from the experience and learn from it rather than letting it spoil your fun. You have bad days in the rest of your life and you will have bad days online.

Just remember that you are looking for what you want and you will find it.

Friends and Lovers

Come and Join the Party!

Many people have a strange delusion that their friends and partners are separated entities. Don't make it so. Other believe that men should only have male friends and women should only have female friends.

These two ideas should be fundamentally flawed and extremely bogus. Friends are those people you get on with. You laugh with them and cry with them. Your social life shouldn't be split between friends and lovers. Bring them together. Your partner should be a friend as well as someone you have sex with.

Friends of both sexes can have a positive input.

Men should have female friends. Women know about other women. They can help you find girlfriends. Women know about the behaviour of women. Talk to them, learn from them. A man with female friends has more success in his dating life than the man who spends his time solely with other men.

When you start on the road to internet dating success treat everyone equally. That person who has similar interests to you may not work out if you want to meet up for sex but they could be a friend. Everyone has the potential to be a friend and you could, in the long term, help each other to find the sex or relationship that you are after.

If you appear or are popular online then others will want to know you. If you have a few friends online then the questions will start in someone else's mind. Why makes this guy interesting? A woman will be intrigued.

A small warning. The concept of friends has changed online with the growth of the social networks. Social Networking uses the word "friend" as an acquaintance or interested person as well as a true friend. Having those friends in an online dating website shouldn't be ignored though. These are the people who are interested in you and you are interested in them.

Use those friends. Get advice. Don't rush in with everyone person you think would be interested in you. This isn't all about sex. You might want that but it won't happen with everyone.

Horny Adult Encounters

The number one dating service for everyone! Something missing in your life, looking for someone to have some fun with or looking for a partner to spend the rest of your life with? Then this is the place to be! You can make new friends, find the hottest adult date, wildest couples and sexiest groups. Whether you are straight or gay, looking for sexy women or men, you'll find everything you want on Horny Adult Encounters. Indulge your fantasies and join the hottest adult dating site in the world. Find a fuck buddy in your area for mutual fun and no strings sex or join the swingers.

hornyadultencounters.com

Wow! You Look a Million Dollars!

Now, we are not talking about physical looks here. We are talking about appearance. The way you dress and your hairstyle. The guys who shave and the guys who don't. Appearance is very important online because the profile photo is one of two aspects that people see first when checking you out.

How good do you feel when you get dressed to go out for the night? How much time do you spend getting ready? That is the moment when you're at your best. Going out for a night is one of the rare times when men and women feel good about themselves.

I always look really bad in photos

This is also the time to take that photo for your profile. That moment when you feel at your best. Your own self confidence will improve your chances of success considerably.

Take several photos of yourself or get a friend to do it. Casual and relaxed are key here and smile. A few photos over a few days will provide you will something to work with. You look good. There is no need to feel insecure about the way you look. We all do that from time to time, even the hottest and coolest looking people.

Always listen if someone offers you advice. You know your own friends and their sense of style so if they suggest something to change your look then try it. If you don't feel right then don't continue. Having female friends here is a bonus. Women know about style far more than men. Their advice in your look is a must!

Stand out from a crowd without going over the top. Whether it's the colour of the shirt you're wearing or jewellery for those guys who wear it you should be noticeable. When women look through dating profiles you need to appeal to them and stand out from the other photos.

One other point about the profile photo. All dating sites allow multiple photos to be uploaded. Do not, under any circumstances, use the main profile photo to show off your cock, your pussy, your breasts or your ass. Faces or a clothed body shot should always be your main photo. Use the other photos to show off your body.

Make sure you upload a photo or two. Those who do have 10 times more success with online dating than those who don't.

There are some aspects you should also remember when conversing with someone. Most women know they are hot! They know they are beautiful so you do not need to tell them! Complimenting a woman on her style, however, is a different matter. Suggesting her hair or her clothes make her look good is a whole different world to telling her she's beautiful or hot and the word "babe" is only used between guys when discussing girls.

The Perfect Profile

You are about to write the perfect profile. You probably don't think that you can write the perfect profile but you can. Many of us do write the perfect dating profile and that's why we succeed.

How did you get your last job? Did you write a CV or resume? How much time did you spend writing it? Selling yourself in work is the same as selling yourself in the dating game. There are just a few different questions.

Who are you? What do you like? What are you looking for? These are the questions that concern you the most now. You have already thought about your interests and you know what you are looking for. Sit down at your computer and begin to write your dating resume. Think about it, change it.

The perfect dating profile is the one that describes you, your interests and what you are looking for. Use sentences, not bullet point or keyword lists. Do not be embarrassed about anything.

Don't lie. Much like your work resume you can bend the truth a little or talk yourself up but don't lie and don't be arrogant or boastful. Do not write too much. Keep yourself brief. You don't want to bore people with long and winding diatribes. Do not try and be someone you're not here. Use humour if you are a humorous person.

Highlight the things you are most passionate about. If you're proud of your hobbies or even your job then mention those. You have a talent so mention that. Alternative subtleties can be employed here to avoid arrogance.

"My friends think..." or "I have been told that..." are good ways to start something rather than "I am fantastic at..." or "You would not believe how good I am at..."

Avoid all negative aspects of yourself. All of them! You are here to promote yourself. You are perfect right now. You have no faults and no weaknesses. Do not mention a previous lover. No one cares about your last relationship, how tough it was or how much it hurt when it ended. Seriously, you're moving forward here. Forget the past.

Since you are posting a photo of yourself then you don't need to be specific about the way you look. Someone can see that in your photo.

Remember that you are not "looking for anything" here so when it comes to writing about what you are looking for then use the ideals that you thought about earlier. You don't have to be too specific unless you have a particular fetish you want to share with someone. Broad brush strokes can entice more people and the specifics can be dealt with when you're chatting or meet someone.

One more point about profiles. Do not copy anyone else's. Be yourself. Be original. You are unique and your profile should reflect that. Remember what we keep telling you. You will succeed here and nothing about you is an embarrassment.

Don't be afraid to get your friends to help you out here if you're a little stuck on how to write your profile or imagine you are one of your friends describing you.

Describe Yourself in One Sentence

We mentioned earlier that the photo on your profile was one of two important key aspects of your profile. Now for number two. The headline.

This scares more people than you would imagine so do not antagonise yourself over it. Sometimes a line will come naturally, sometimes you have to think about it. It's time to become the advertising guru here and come up with a one liner that is going to make someone take notice.

Some people will use a quote that appeals or sums them up. Others use a funny one liner. Since this is one aspect that draws attention then consider what you want to say. Don't beat yourself up about it though. Come up with something and you can always change it if you think of something better.

Your username is a smaller extension of the headline. Don't be stupid and call yourself a sex god or some daft alternative. Be sensible. Come up with something original that lets someone know a little about you, use your favourite interest or hobby as a basis for the username.

And those Extra Little Questions

You might think that the extra questions about height, weight, body size and ages aren't important. They are. They begin to signify who you are in many of the searches available on the internet dating websites, adding search variables when someone is searching for you. As we keep saying – Don't lie.

Be truthful here. To look at a few:

Age Range – What age person are you looking for? Unless you are into older or younger men or women then the general consensus here is to go five years either side of your own age if you are in your 20s or 10 years if you are older. Obviously you can't go below 18!

Size – Your body size and shape. Don't lie! If you are a little chubby or overweight then say so. It's gonna look bad if you say you're athletic and turn up to meet someone with a beer belly! Hey, some people like chubby. Remember that not all love and sex is about the physical appearance.

Likes/Dislikes – Some sites allow for being specific about your like and dislikes in selectable lists. Go through the list and tick or select the things you enjoy. Don't select everything and don't select things you don't like. If there's something in there that you want to try then select that. Whether it is regular hobbies or interests or sexual likes then work through the list and tick things off. These selections will make your profile appear to people when you search and your own searches will highlight others with similar tastes.

Search Distance – If you have the opportunity then selecting a distance from your own home that you're prepared to travel to meet someone is important. That may be a short distance for people living in cities and a little larger if you're in a rural area. If you want to travel any distance then quantify that in your profile as someone who enjoys travelling so you don't look desperate!

Here We Go!

So, everything is written, planned and ready to go. Now go and sign up at an online dating site and fill in your profile. Fill it all in now. Go on. Do it now and come back when you're done. Most dating sites will need some time to approve your profile and your photos so not much is going to happen for a few hours.

Now you're online and ready to start the dating game. You're all set and you're searching the profiles of other members.

Don't they all look good? All those possibilities. All that potential for sex, love and a long and happy time online!

Hey look! Someone's checking you out as well! Let's go over and say Hi! Come on, don't be shy.

You might feel a little scared right now. You're afraid of rejection. Don't be scared. Hey, everyone else has been through this. The first time isn't always the best but you have to learn sometime.

Check out the profiles. Read the profiles. Read them! If they attract you then contact them. If their profile isn't what you're after then move on to the next one. Remember what we said about physical stuff and interests. If their profile doesn't interest you or they want something you can't offer then it's not going to work no matter how sexy they look in the photo.

You want to send a message? Do it then. What have you got to lose right now? Nothing! It's all about you now.

An opening message should be brief, an introduction to let someone know that you are interested in them. Say hello and introduce yourself. Tell them why you are attracted to them – interests here, not looks.

Asking a question in a message gives rise to a response more than anything. Hey, it's not polite to not answer a question.

No reply? OK, move on. Feeling more relaxed now? This is easy, isn't it?

If a chat system has its own instant messaging system (IM) then download it and use it. You can chat straight off with some people.

We will say this again – Do not fear rejection. It's gonna happen but the more you search, chat and mail people the more chance you have of success and you will find who you want. There are people who will tell you that online dating doesn't work. They are the people who gave up too soon or too easily. Forget them. Online dating does work and you're about to prove it!

Also remember that in the virtual online world, as in the real world, women rarely make the first move. They want to be one who is seduced by you. Be bold and make the first move.

Remember to be careful online. We know online dating is safe but that doesn't mean you shouldn't be careful here. Don't give out too much personal information just yet. Stick to the basics and chat about the things that interest you both.

Remember what someone tells you about their own life. Keep notes if you have to since they can't see you. If you spot inconsistencies they may not be who they say they are. It is a sad fact that a minority of people online lie too much. There are men online pretending to be women for some cheap thrills. Be vigilant.

Not many people dive straight into sex and intimate details. Let's go at your pace and if they are going too fast for you then back off.

When you feel safe with someone in the online dating website and you want to move outside then pass on an email address or ask for theirs. You can now email each other at leisure.

When it comes to moving further on and you're ready to do so then ask for a phone number. If you're chatting then suggest you ring them now. If they're hesitant then don't worry. Maybe they're not quite ready yet but you're building an online friendship that will grow.

Be Safe! Be Happy!

Now for the final part – the meeting. Wow! Meeting someone already?

How cool are you?

There is one golden rule about meeting for the first time from the internet to the real world. Do it in a public place during daylight hours. Be comfortable and safe. Lunch or coffee is a far better first date than a meal or night out. It's shorter and gives you both time to reflect on the initial meeting. Hey, you can always take her home or out again tomorrow night.

Remember to dress to impress! That profile photo helped you get this far so make an effort. If you're meeting for lunch during work or weekdays then presumably you dress well. If not then try and meet at a weekend. Be smart and sensible and look good. First impressions go a long way.

You don't have to engage in sex on a first date unless that is what you've planned but still meet in public first and then take the person home or go to their place.

Love or sex? Whatever you want from online dating then remember to be safe, be yourself and above all have fun! You will find what you want.

The End of a Relationship

Hey, sometimes things won't work out at all. You should always start a potential fling or relationship with the best intentions but sometimes it just won't feel right. Don't worry. As we've said before and will say again, don't let it get you down or make you feel that online dating isn't right for you.

That means an online ending and these should be treated with the same respect you give to ending any relationship. Care and tact should always be taken. Do not just ignore someone because you don't think things will work out. Tell them you don't feel that it's the right thing for you. Don't waste your time working on someone if you're not into them. Whether it's the physical or the interests. If it's not working then it ain't gonna happen!

Some people may do the same with you. Remember not to let that make you feel bad. It doesn't matter. There are more choices out there than you could want. Online dating means that millions of people are online and looking. Millions! Not just that one.

Come and Meet Our Members

I love it when someone licks me like an ice cream cone before fingering me. I love having at least two fingers inserted in my wet, juicy pussy while sucking on my clit but not coming up with the tongue too much. Circles are best. I love when someone knows the right angles with their fingers and tongue to make me cum super hard and squirt in their face! I freaking love giving and getting head and with each of my playmates I experiment with how my partner reacts to my sucks and licks and adjust according to how they react.

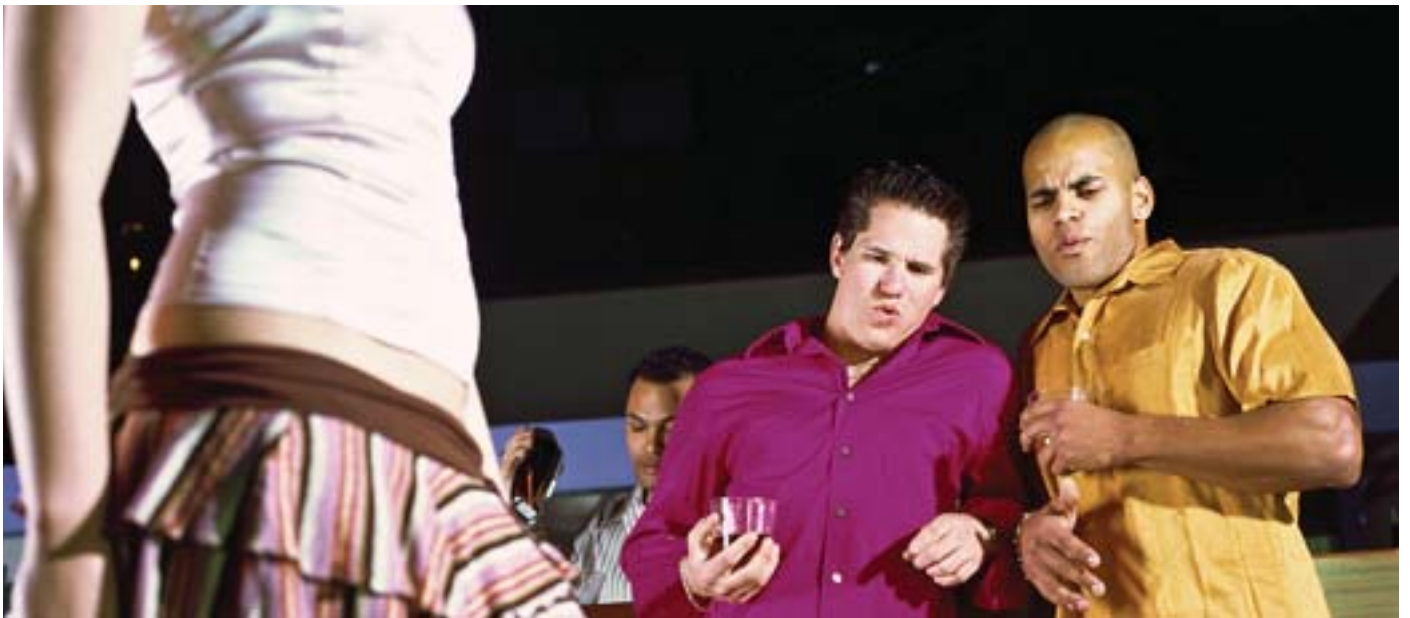

I am a very sexy girl, with 36d tits and very perky nipples. I am a very naughty and kinky woman and will make anyone cum better then ever before. I love to have sex and I cannot get enough of it. I am looking any guys or girls that love to have sex as much as me and that know how to have a good time and anyone that can make me cum hard. I have lots of pictures and willing to share them with anyone.

Kissing makes my pussy wet right off the bat if my lover is receptive to my tongue. The passion comes from the connection and with that, awesome sex to follow! French kissing is awesome too...I love it when I'm about to cum and I'm tonguing with my lover at the same time just before I orgasm!

Wet and wild is the name that says it all. I love all nighters! A rave girl who loves grinding my tush on the dance floor. I may look simple but I get crazy! Hook up with me and get the ride of your life. I love men and keep this on your mind, "It's not the size of the wand...it's the magic in it." Well guys, you are all welcome to see how I squirt. Come and join me!

I need a man in my life. A man who can love me and let me live my life. As someone who loves nights out, vacations and naughty trips away for the weekend I need you to want the same things. I keep fit, visiting my local gym several times a week and have the stamina to satisfy everyone! I am sensual and can easily be made to orgasm with the right touch.

What are you waiting for? You have all the tools to make your internet dating successful!
Get online now and start your journey to happiness!

hornyadultencounters.com

hornyadultencounters.com